Barry Benson Bradley IV

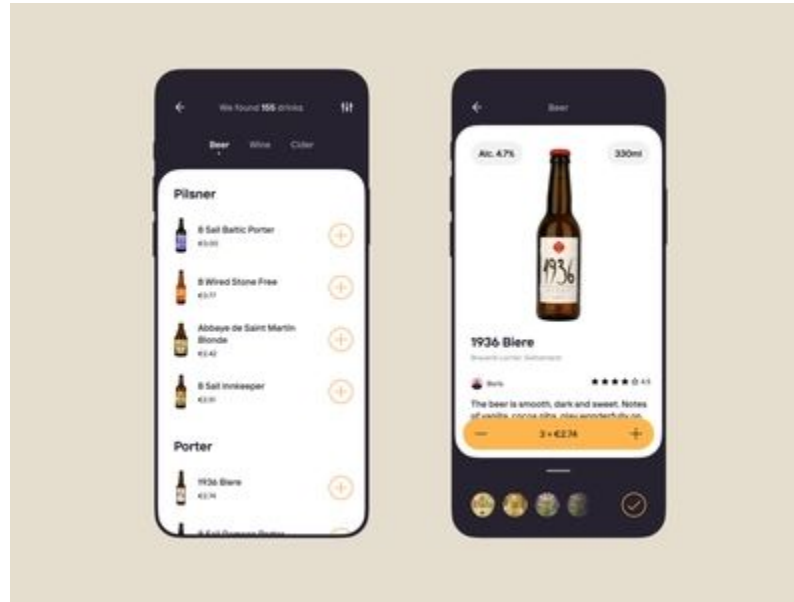

Barry finds himself exhausted after an entire week of working and is ready to watch some college football and take down some brewskis with the boys.

Barry's friends Jerry, Tom, Eric arrive at his house and help themselves to a bud light in the cooler. Everyone was having a great time until Jerry made an interesting point, "Do you guys ever get tired of the same beer? I mean we've been drinking bud for as long as I can remember but do you ever wonder if there's better out there?"

Tom has an idea, recently he's heard of a new app called Pubhub that surveys you and tells you which drinks you might like

The 4 of them all decide to download the app and at least give it a try. To their amazement they learned they should give Michelob Ultra and Budweiser a shot, It also gave a list a 19 mixed drinks they might enjoy

With all the excitement, the boys decide to head to the liquor store right away so they could try the new drinks. Since they all had a little to drink, they all used the digital BAC calculator included on the Pubhub app to see who had the west to drive. Tom had the lowest with a 0.02 so he would drive them to the store.

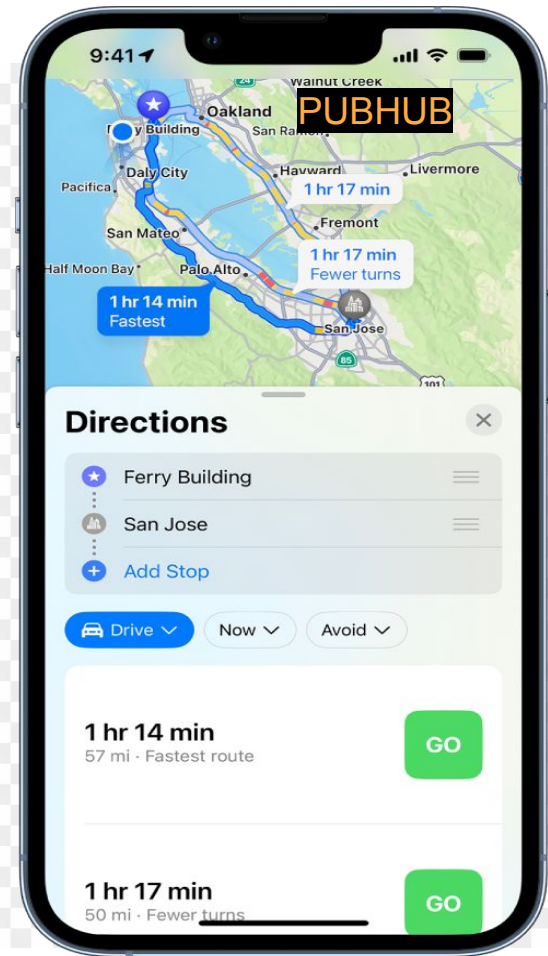

The boys got their booze and headed back to continue watching football. It was a great time and everyone enjoyed their new selections. At the end of the night, they were able to favorite their new selection in the Pubhub app and leave a star rating.
